WHOLESALE MURDER FOR CHEERING REBEL VICTORY.

Shocking Story From Corinto Brought to San Francisco by Steamer Para-Dictator's Version of Cannon-Groce Shooting-Insurgents Still Gaining.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24 .- The executien of ferty citizens of Niceragua at Cerinto by a flying squad under orders from President Zelaya because they cheered upon receipt of news of a victory by the insurgents now in erms against the Zelayan Government is the latest story of the cruelty of the President of the Central American State brought to crew of the steamer City of Para, which arrived at noon to-day.

Every precaution is being taken by President Zelaya according to the report brought by the City of Para to prevent the landing of passengers or crews of ships arriving at Corinto, and thus it is thought he hopes to keep news of the conditions existing in the republic from reaching the outside world

The town was under heavy guard during the Para's stay and passengers made no attempt to land. Some sailors, however, managed to elude the vigilance of nessed the execution of a part of the two score of victims of the President

Much joy, it is said, exists in Corinto over the continued receipt of news from the battlefields telling of rebel victories The fighting is being done principally on the Atlantic coast, but rumors of repeated rebel victories penetrate into Corinto. and it was one of these which led to the death of so many inhabitants of that city.

PANAMA. Nov. 24.-President Zelava of Nicaragua has telegraphed to the Nicaraguan representative here confirming the execution of Leroy Cannon and Leonard Groce. He says that the revolutionists employed the two Americans to mine the San Juan River and that one of the mines they planted exploded near the steamer Diamante.

Cannon and Groce were captured in flagrante delictu and were tried by courtmartial. They were amply defended. They pleaded guilty and were condemned to death in accordance with the laws of the republic.

Cannon was engaged in former revolutions. He was captured in Honduras in 1907 but was liberated on his promise not to meddle further in Central American politics.

Mr. Sussmann said: "There is no death penalty in Nicaragua under the law. The highest punishment that can be inflicted is fourteen years in the penicountry is now, however, under martial law and Zelaya may make that an excuse do not think it will hold good. "In Nicaragua in time of revolution real criminals are turned loose to make room for political prisoners. A felon or murderer may be restored to his liberty at any time. I know of a case where a dastardly murder was committed on William Jericho, a German merchant. The man suspected confessed and was sentenced to fourteen years in prison. Within a short time the right to walk the streets was granted him and he often used to take odd jobs of carpentering in Managua.

"That is only one of many such instances. It is no unusual thing for the prisons to be emptied of convicted felons to make room for innocent men accused of political offences."

Reports from Bluefields say that practically all Americans have cast in their

The Navy Department has practically The Navy Department has practically completed its preliminary arrangements for any punitive action that may be taken against Nicaragea. The marine detachments at the Philadelphia navy yard and on the Isthmus of Panama are prepared to embark at a moment's notice. In addition the gunboat Vicksburg is at Corinto, on the Pacific side, and the oruiser Des Moines is on her way to Greytown, on the Atlantic coast of Nicaragua. The cruiser Tacoma and the gunboat Marietta has never abandoned his party allegiance.

> Shot Down by Accusing Husband. LOUISVILLE, Nov. 24.—Pursued through the streets by the man who says he had insulted his wife and finally cornered in the porch of a building where he sought refuge William E. Proctor, a prominent politician who was a candidate for City Auditor of Louisville at the recent election, was shot down and killed to-day by R. M. Cully, a wall paper dealer.

Cully and Proctor had been very good friends for years. Recently Proctor is said to have gone to the Cully home under pretence of telling Mrs. Cully of the death of his brother. is said to have made improper advances toward her.

Cully heard of this last night. He says he sat up all night and that as soon as the stores were opened to-day went and purchased two revolvers. He chased Proctor four blocks, shooting at him and finally got him penned up and killed

Cully has the sympathy of Louisville people, who believe his story.

Last night Miss Kelly, who lives with an aunt in Nyack, came to town to attend the marriage of a cousin in an apartment house uptown and Salinger arrived on the scene with a woman in a taxicab. Mr. Kelly was there too and saw his daughter leave the apartment before any of the other guests had departed. He followed her to the street just in time to lically all Americans have cast in their fortunes with the Estrada forces and many have gone to the front to back up their principles.

For the first time in history the Jamaican negroes and the Caribs have taken an active interest in politics and are enlisting eagerly with the Estrada army. It is said that during the last ten days more than 1,000 men have been added to the revolutionists at Bluefields alone and that up the coast and in the interior of the provinces of Segovia and Matagalpa the people are rising to the aid of the rebels and many soldiers have turned to Estrada's aid.

his chief advisers on matters relating to the interstate commerce law was held late this afternoon at the White House. Attorney-General Wickersham. Reprerrived a little more than a week ago at sentative Mann of Illinois, chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission and Commissioner Lane were present They talked with the President for nearly three hours. While many of the more important proposed changes to the interstate commerce act were brought up with a few new ones of minor importance, stopped at the house were laden down not ready to finish that portion of his message which is to be devoted to inter

Until this committee does report the President, it was said to-night, will not determine finally his attitude toward the interstate commerce act. There are other nembers of Congress with whom the President desires to confer, so that it is likely that there will be another conference or a series of conferences within a

The President showed that he was determined to strengthen the law so that there would be less delay in litigation over orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This can be done, he believed by the creation of an interstate commerce court with five members, to which would go petitions referring to the commission's orders. He thought also that a limit of sixty days should be placed to the order of any Judge staying the execution of such orders and that thereafter no injunction be issued unless by the entire court. Appeals, the President thought should be to the Supreme Court alone.

Mr. Taft would give to the commission the right to hear complaints against unjust classification of merchandise for transportation and would have the commission authorized to institute complaints of its own, with the additional power being permitted to postpone the date or which new rate classifications should take

The President proposed also to modify the law so that the commission could suspend or modify or annul any rules or regulations which impose undue burdens on shippers. He would have any rail road barred from acquiring any stock in any competing line and would have those carriers which now hold such stock dispose of it within a stated time. issuance of stock, bonds or other obligamake subject to the approval of the commission. Much of the discussion to-day had to do with the question raised as to the constitutionality of such a statute.

Mr. Taft also proposed as a concession to the railroads that they be permitted to and took him home with him. The boy agree on tariff rates, provided the agreements were approved by the commission All these suggestions had been made by the President prior to the conference held to-day.

One important suggestion was that it be made a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, for a shipper to make any fictitious or excessive claim for damages against any railroad. It was asserted that this is practised to some extent now and that it results in obtaining of rebates. Another suggestion was carrier to refuse to furnish rates in writing when requested or a misdemeanor if a wrong rate was furnished. Still another suggestion was that it be made possible for a shipper to route freight as he may desire.

Attorney-General Wickersham said after the conference that only changes to the interstate commerce act had been considered and that the anti-trust law was not discussed. In the President's Des Moines speech and in Mr. Wickersham's speech at Kansas City, he said, could be found most of the points covered A few minor new points had been taken up, but only a few.

EMPLOYERS TO FIGHT BACK. Large Shirtwaist Manufacturers Cor to Break the Strike.

The large shirtwaist manufacturers of the city held a secret meeting yesterday at the Broadway Central Hotel to form an association for the purpose of breaking the strike of 40,000 employees. Another meeting will be held this afternoon.

Charles Weinblatt, attorney for the employers, said last evening: "The action of some of the smaller firms in settling with the union hastened the movemen to form an association by the large firms, none of whom has granted any demands or will grant any. The strike is the outcome of the clamor raised by the strike leaders and is without merit."

A representative of the Bijou Waist Company, 536 Broadway, whose employees quit when the lights in the factory were put out, said: "This strike is the result of hysteria. Our girls had no grievances and made no demands."

B. Witaskin, secretary of the union, said that 12,000 more waistmakers were on strike and that fifty employers had settled, but that was guesswork. It is the most discreanized strike that New that is the most disorganized strike that New York has ever seen. According to the strike committee several thousand non-union women have been initiated and $5,000 has been re-ceived in initiation fees. John A. Dycke, secretary of the International Women's Garment Workers, said that his organization would support the strikers morally and finanically.

It was reported last evening that 500 waist cutters had joined in the strike, also several thousand waistmakers in Brownsville. The Italian waistmakers in several shows attrick vesterday. in several shops struck yesterday.

MAKING THE DIRT FLY ON MARS. Astronomers Find Some New Canals Recentis Dug by Inteiligent Beings.

BOSTON, Nov. 24.-Three new canals have been discovered on the planet Mars by Prof. Percival Lowell at his Arizona

The announcement came to-day through Mrs. David Todd, wife of Prof. "There has been no great calamity on Mars." said Mrs. Todd to-day. "There have been some changes, more pronounced than is usual at this time of the year. The great ice cap seemed to disappear, but now it is growing larger again and is approaching the normal. "Prof. Lowell says that he has found up there. These canals look to us like signs of intelligent work rather than that they are sure signs of intelligent activity and of human beings existent on Mars, but all we can say is that there seems to be a probability that these new canals show that there is life up there.' Prof. William A. Pickering of the Har vard Observatory agreed with Mrs. Todd and M. Flammarion that there had been no catastrophe on Mars. "It was purely a seasonal change, with an unusual quantity of clouds," he said. "We have the same phenomenon in the spring here."

ANTITOXIN WENT WRONG. Physician Who Saved Diphtheria Cas

With Other Man's Serum Is Sued MCALESTER, Okla, Nov. 24 .- A nove se has arisen here, involving riva physicians in a little town in this county. The child of one physician was ill of diphtheria and the father telephoned to a physician in this city to rush a supply of antitoxin. The McAlester physician engaged a boy to deliver the serum The boy reached the little town about 1 o'clock in the morning and stopped at the first house he came to and inquired where the physician lived. The man asked the boy his errand. The boy said he had brought medicine for him. The The man said he was going to the physician's home and would take the medicine. The boy gave the man the antitoxin

By the time he had returned to McAlester the doctor's child was dead. Later the father advised the physician who had sent the antitoxin that it never reached him. He came to McAlester to investigate. He found the boy, heard his story led him to the house of a rival physician who was treating a case of diphtheria at the same time the other physician's child was dying of the disease. He saved

The physician who lost his child is pre paring to bring a suit for damages against the physician who is alleged to have intercepted the antitoxin intended to save the life of his child.

Learning of this, the accused physician obtained warrants for the messenger boy. charging him with criminal carelessness that it be made a misdemeanor for a and perjury, the latter charge being based on the fact that the boy pointed out his house as the place where he gave a man

> LET HIS WIFE GO ON IN While Freed Himself, Under Arrest, Went On to the Tombs

Freed, who used to be the presi dent of a livery stable company, was arrested last night as he was about to enter Progress Hall in Avenue A for a wedding there. Deputy Marshals Dooner and Gilday of Marshal Henkel's staff had a warrant for the arrest of Freed on the charge of perjury.

Freed knew nothing about the warrant or even that he had been indicted, and he and his wife and their two children had left a taxicab in front of Progress Hall just where Dooner and Gilday were waiting.

Freed told his wife to go on and enjoy herself, so she and the children went into the hall and Freed went to the Tombs. Freed is alleged to have perjured himself in regard to the conduct of the livery stable company, which went into bankruptcy some months ago.

JUDGES SALARY RAISE. Board of Estimate Hears on All Sides That It's Void.

Mayor McClellan and Corporation Counsel Pendleton received an opinion yesterday from the judiciary committee of the Bar Association, which holds, as Justice Seabury held, that the proposed increase of the December salaries of Supreme Court Justices of the First and Second districts so as to give them higher pay for the future is unconstitutional, and that the the future is unconstitutional, and that the Board of Estimate can no more increase a Judge's compensation during his term than the Legislature can. This opinion is signed by W. D. Guthrie, Chairman James Byrne, John S. Wise, Austen G. Fox, J. Frederic Kernochan, H. L. Stimson, C. C. Burlingham and Morgan J. O'Brien. In reply to a question the Mayor said that he could find no law giving him power to veto a resolution of the Board of Estimate. The board, however, he said, has full power to rescind its own resolution.

Three Storms on the Map at Once More Than Fulfilled the Prophecy, With Sleet, Slush, Snow, a Freeze and Half a Gale-Clouds Anticipated for To-day

The boss of the forecasters in Washngton did not strike a bullseye in his prophecies for yesterday. His prediction that it would be partly cloudy hereabout was partly right. He neglected. however, to mention that little incident of an inch or more of sleet and snow, half a gale from the northeast in the morning and a stiff snow, sleet and hail laden wind out of the northwest all the an aspect as it has worn on the eve of Thanksgiving since the isothermals shifted. He thought on Tuesday that it would be fair and warmer to-day, but he now believes it will be partly cloudy again. But of course a weather prophet, particularly one whose habit has been to occasions, cannot be expected to do the right thing when unexpected storm developments switch the spirit of prophecy off on a siding.

A southern offshoot of the storm that went out to sea on Tuesday through the St. Lawrence Valley cyclonic flume developed more energy than was expected of it. It came up the coast yesterday morning, swirling on its centre of Hatteras at 8 A. M., and began to fling its moist periphery against the colder air dragged down by the main section of its parent that had denced to the northeast of us. That is what caused the congelation aloft and why the streets of the town took on last night the appearance of traditional Christmas time. As the southern storm started to come up to three or four new canals of recent making the level of this latitude, with its centre some miles off the coast, the wind shifted to northwest. Meanwhile that cyclone natural markings. The radical view is that came in from the north Paoific on Monday was doing all it could to obfuscate prophets and upset things in the far Northwest.

The Southern storm swept past the latitude in the early evening and at a clock was central off the southern New England coast. It had created gales from northeast in the daytime up New England way that attained a maximum force of 72 miles at Block Island and tied up the steamboats between Nantucket and the mainland. The air was so thick with snow and sleet seaward that the Sandy Hook observer could see only a few inches beyond the end of his telescope. Wireless played a part in local ship news, the White Star liner Teutonic notifying the world ashore that she had anchored off the Hook at 7:45 last night in a snowstorm. The Royal Mail liner Tagus, from Southampton by way of the West Indies, also tole by wireless of her arrival off the Hook. STORM POUNDS JERSEY COAST Fear That Atlantic City Pier Heads May Be Carried Away.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 24 .- A wile ortheast gale accompanied by snow and rain swept the coast to-day and en dangered shipping which did not heed warnings to make for harbor.

The storm backed up water in the bays and inlets until the meadow side of the city was flooded. A house in process of moving was blown down, and electric wires were tangled up, starting severa small fires. The waves smashed a number of small boats in the Inlet yachting section, and close watch is being kept on the sea ends of big piers that may be washed away before morning. Electric line communication across the meadows was halted for hours because of the flood. The Government coast guards are keeping a close watch for wrecks.

SEATTLE, Nov. 24 .- The storm that has prevailed in the Pacific Northwest for wo days shows no signs of abating. The passengers of three Great Northern trains are marooned between the Cascade Tunnel 1 and Tonga. A relief train bearing passengers of Great Northern train No. 3, due in Seattle Monday, arrived last night. The passengers told of the havoc of the floods in the Cascade Mountains.

Shortly after the arrival of the relief train a message was received which said that the railroad bridge over the Skyhomish River had gone out.

In eastern Oregon and eastern Washington the rain is of secondary importance to a windstorm. The schooner Mary Winkleman is stranded near Port Townsend. In Umatilla county the windstorm unroofed several buildings. At Athena the end of a large warehouse was blown in front of a passenger train. The train was travelling slowly and stopped before the obstruction was reached.

BOARD OF EDUCATION YIELDS TO "TREATMENT."

Eight Story Building for Washington Irving Pupils Will Be Put Up-District Superintendent's Pay Up to $6,000

The Women Members Introduced.

The appeal to the 3,000 girl pupils of Washington Irving High School by one of their number to join in a mental influence on the Board of Education to stimulate that body into action on the building of a schoolhouse apparently was effective. The treatment for gold or omething else stirred the Board of Education into deciding yesterday that the school, which now is scattered through half a dozen annexes, will in the near future be housed in one eight story structure on Irving place.

Chairman Wilsey of the building committee submitted a resolution asking the board's approval of the structure his committee had designed. There were to be four elevators, no wood in the floors, two restaurants, two or more gymnasis and an assembly hall that would seat 1,600 persons. The principal feature was that the building was to be eight stories high, the tallest of the school buildings of the city.

C. J. Sullivan, the chairman of the high schools committee, started an hour's discussion as to whether the bu ing should be six or eight stories high. He said the city had paid $664,000 for the site of the proposed school and ar eight storied building would cost about $1,000,000.

"It may be a fact in the near future as Mr. Wilsey says, that this board will living at 3810 Broadway, was operated erect schools fourteen and sixteen stories come," he said. Although the high buildings might be necessary in Manhattan, he thought

much of the high school training he expreseed an adverse opinion. "The technical part of the high school ourse is almost useless so far as the pupils are concerned," he went on. East Side girls will have nothing to do with it or almost nothing. Why, in the study of millinery there is not a single girl pupil in Manhattan. The same is true of bookinding and in printing. The dree ing course is three years, and that is too long for poor girls. Then again the parents are deterred by their own experience in sweatshops from sending t girls to learn such trades. "The original plans for this building Paris Hears He Is Coming Here to Fly a have some very queer features for a school. The plans contemplated banque come and dance halls, for that is what the restaurants and gymnasiums come There are to be two balconies over the dining room where music is to be ren-dered while pupils and teachers are dining. Nothing finer at Sherry's or Delmonico's

"Then there are to be ten lounging rooms for teachers. Well, if that len't luxury it comes pretty near it. The decorations are to be in old Dutch and ome of the rooms are to contain some of the masternieces from Holland. "I believe that the space equal two floors is wasted and I think that a six story building is good enough. He offered an amendment that the committee on building prepa

for a six story structure. Chairman Wilsey said that the pla for the interior of the building were not fully decided upon and could be changed An eight story school was needed to accommodate the $,000 pupils. The site was an expensive one and should be fully utilized. City Superintendent Maxwell said that technical training of girls in the high school was a failure. There were teachers who did not have a single pupil. Two years ago more than a thousand girls left the school before they had been there five months. Last year 800 girls left before they had completed one year of the three year course. The technical courses in the high schools are dying out, he asserted. At the end of the debate a vote wa taken on the Sullivan amendment. Mrs. Mirabeau Towns and Miss Olivia Leventritt, who were recently appointed mem bers of the board by Mayor McClellan listened attentively to the discussion but took no part in it. Both of them voted against the amendment, which was defeated 23 to 18. Abraham Stern objected to the indefinite plans of the eight story structure which the defeat of the amendment assured and Gen. Wingate moved that the eight story idea be adopted and that the interior plans be referred back to the building committee for further consideration. This was carried. Mrs. Towns and Miss Leventritt introduced to the board early in the session and were assigned to committees The former goes on the committee of special schools and the latter was assigned to the committee on vocations schools and high schools. Miss Isabella D. Markey, a tea one day's pay. Miss Markey was fined Public School 29 in The Bronx, was fir because she insisted upon going to the wedding of her brother. She asked permission of her principal to take the day off, but the principal couldn't see the necessity. The teacher stayed away and the local school board fined her one day's pay in addition to holding back her pay for the day on which she wen to the wedding. On Mr. Stern's motion the board ordered that she be fined only for the day of the wedding. William L. Ettinger, a principal, was elected a district superintendent, salary of which place was increased from $5,000 to $6,000 during the meeting. The Board of Estimate was asked to issue corporate stock to the amoun $1,000,000 for the fire protection of schools
